Why Study Abroad?

Study Abroad Through IIHEM Programs

Self-Improvement

Studying abroad is a unique life experience that will widen your perspective and sharpen your intellect. It is an invaluable way to mature as a student and as a young professional.

You will improve your language skills, cultural knowledge, motivation, and maturity.

Marketability

Your study abroad experience will make you more appealing both to employers and to graduate university programs.

Employers are searching for candidates who have faced challenges, traveled, and lived in other cultural and linguistic settings.

Independence

Studying abroad means spending a period of time away from things familiar to you.

It will give you a true sense of independence that will help you as a young professional when facing the challenges of a new work environment.

As an IIHEM student, you can take advantage of the many opportunities that are available to you to spend a semester abroad at one of IIHEM's international partner universities. Your academic advisor will help you choose the university to go to and plan the courses to take so that you can transfer all credits earned back to IIHEM. Agreements with most partner universities will allow you to pay IIHEM tuition while attending the partner institution, resulting in significant financial savings for you.

You can also use IIHEM as a springboard to transfer and complete your undergraduate studies at international universities at the year of your choice. Some students may choose to transfer after the first year (Foundation Year), others will choose the second or third year, while still others will wait until they graduate and follow in the footsteps of the large number of IIHEM alumni who chose to do their graduate studies internationally. Whatever your choice, the IIHEM International Office will be there to help you.

International Office

Applying to a good international university can be a complex and daunting process. The role of the international office is to help you plan your international studies and to guide and accompany you to prepare your applications for admission. Once admitted, the International Office will be there to help you in all aspects of your transfer to the new university.
